

STATE COUNTS $886 MILLIONS IN REVENUES

Governor Duff Program Proposes Large Income From Corporation Taxes

FEES WILL MOUNT UP

Harrisburg, Feb. 2.—(P)—The state government counted today on revenues of $886,000,000 from taxes and fees for its vast undertakings in the next two years.

In addition, there will be $40,000,000 in federal aid for highway construction and unestimated amounts of federal funds for public assistance, health and welfare programs. These items totaled nearly $75,000,000 in the current two years.

There is also a $42,000,000 surplus from the present two-year fiscal period for operations in the coming biennium.

The biggest revenue producer again will be taxes on corporations. Gov. James H. Duff, in his biennial budget estimates, such taxes will bring in $250,150,000 or 28 per cent of the state's receipts for ordinary purposes in the next two years.

Taxes on alcoholic beverage will produce $163,835,000 and motorists, without any increase in the gasoline tax, will pay an estimated $134,000,000 for their motor fuel. Another $84,000,000 will be handed over as motor licenses fees, $41,000,000 from passenger cars.

A boost of one-cent in the current gasoline levy will bring in another $40,000,000 every two years. In addition, revenues from a half-cent of the gasoline tax, are returned directly to counties for road work.

Governor Duff, who recommended continuation of all present taxes, estimated that the five mill tax on capital stock will bring in $61,000,000 instead of $60,858,000 in the current biennium; gross receipts on utilities $19,250,000 instead of $18,658,000; and various license fees collected by department for a myriad of permits, $10,979,713 instead of $9,947,422.

The inheritance tax is expected to produce $46,100,000 instead of $44,838,526.

Bills Designed To End Short Weighing

Harrisburg, Feb. 2.—(P)—A move to discourage short weighing practices in Pennsylvania was underway today in the general assembly.

The state house of representatives had before it a series of bills designed to modernize and toughen on the commonwealth's weight and measure laws.

Rep. Kenneth Wagner (R-Somerset) introduced the bills yesterday with the backing of the department of internal affairs.

One measure would repeal an 1850 law allowing customers cheated by grocers with defective scales to claim triple damages.

"That's an outmoded law and it's never used," said Joseph F. Blickley, state director of weights and measures. "It has been overlooked over the years."

Another bill would allow state inspectors to arrest on sight out-of-state hucksters instead of having to take out a warrant. This would eliminate the possibility of the violator returning across the state line.

Blickley said the bill was designed to curb the practice of out-of-state hucksters from fleecing border county customers with short-weight scales.

Fuel oil purchases in excess of 50 gallons would have to be metered under another Wagner measure under penalty of a $25 fine or 10 days in jail.

STUDENT BADLY HURT IN FALL IN SCHOOL

Pittsburgh, Feb. 2.—(P)—Donald Dawkins, 16-year-old suburban Cranston high school student was reported in serious condition today from injuries suffered in a fall down a school stairwell.

Mercy Hospital officials said the youth suffered a depressed skull fracture and a broken arm when he fell more than 20 feet. He was leaning over a banister and lost his balance.

Gratitude Train Receives Riotous Welcome In New York

New York, Feb. 2.—(P)—A French ship, symbolizing the gratitude of the French people to Americans received a riotous welcome in New York Harbor today.

Ship whistles blared, planes soared overhead and fireboats spread a sheen of white water skyward as the steamship Magellan, bearing the French "Thank You" train, paraded the Statue of Liberty.

The 49-car train—one car for each of the states and the District of Columbia—is the French "Merci" for the friendship train which Americans sent to France last year laden with food and gifts.

Among the 1,000,000 (M) gifts aboard the train are historic documents, flags and other souvenirs of both world wars. Veterans work-

Storms In Wide Area Deal Huge Losses In Livestock; Death Toll Now Totals 112

By The Associated Press

Weather's wintry elements lashed out over states from Texas to California in January, causing at least 112 deaths and millions of dollars damage to citrus and vegetable crops.

But the final death toll, property damage and livestock losses remained undetermined as the storm-battered western section of the nation still reeled from the January blizzards.

A survey today unfolded to some extent the widespread damage over the storm belt from the worst weather in several years.

Six Sent To The Gallows At Landsberg

Munich, Germany, Feb. 2.—(P)—Six convicted war criminals, including two concentration camp inmates who turned on their fellow prisoners, were hanged today at Landsberg prison.

Three of the six were accused of killing surrendered American aviators who parachuted from damaged planes over Germany.

The executions increased to 103 the number of war criminals hanged at Landsberg since Oct. 15.

One man scheduled to be hanged was given a last minute reprieve. He was Gustav Heigel, 58, an S. S. Sergeant who allegedly "prepared hundreds of inmates for execution" and was rewarded with extra rations of cigarettes, liquor and sausage.

He was reprieved because of work from the department of the army that new information bearing on his case has been found and is being sent by airmail for consideration of officials who review war crimes sentences.

Two executed former inmates were trustees at Mauthausen Concentration camp. They were Karl Schroefer, 43, and Indalecio Gonzalez, 36.

Schroefer "participated in the killing of hundreds of inmates by baths and holding their heads in a water barrel," a U. S. Army statement reported.

PITTSBURGH TO HAVE HOUSING INSTITUTE

Pittsburgh, Feb. 2.—(P)—Methods of launching an economy housing program will be studied at a one-day institute here Feb. 15.

Robert C. Downie, vice chairman of the Allegheny county Conference on Community Development, is chairman of a committee planning the institute.

Hoakley W. Heselbarth, western Pennsylvania district director for the Federal Housing Administration, said similar meetings are planned at other communities in this part of the state.

General State Authority Is Heading For Clear Sailing

Harrisburg, Feb. 2.—(P)—The General State Authority, a Democratic brainchild dressed up in brand new Republican clothes, headed for clear sailing in the legislature today.

Both the Republican majority and the Democratic minority joined hands in lauding the Authority plan. It was proposed by Gov. James H. Duff yesterday as an adjunct to his near-billion dollar budget.

Legislation reviving the authority to finance a $147,000,000 Building program is expected to be submitted to the lawmakers shortly.

P. R. R. Financial Position Improved

Philadelphia, Feb. 2.—(P)—The Pennsylvania Railroad today reported $34,429,934 net income for 1948, nearly five times greater than the previous year.

The earnings statement emphasized PRR's improving financial position since 1945 when World War Two ended. Annual reports since then show:

In 1946—Net loss $8,530,317.

In 1947—$7,285,125 net income.

In 1948—$34,429,934 net income.

Earnings in the month of December, too, showed a decided contrast.

Last year the PRR reported net income of $4,990,424 for December. In 1947 it was $10,946,400 and in '46—minus $2,152,331.

The harbor display of America's welcome began as the Magellan, shepherded by a dozen welcoming smaller craft, neared the statue of Liberty—its gift of the French people, completed on tiny Bedloe's Island in 1886.

Echelons of army, navy and police planes winged overhead in the bright winter sunlight.

The Magellan moved on toward a berth at Weehawken, N. J., across the Hudson river from Manhattan, where huge derricks will lift the cars of the train onto a railroad siding.

Sections of the train will begin moving out of Jersey City, N. J., during the coming week-end.

DIPLOMATIC POSTS AIM OF AFL LEADERS

Possibility That Several Union Men May Be Appointed to High Positions Seen

OVERTURES EXPECTED

Miami, Fla., Feb. 2.—(P)—AFL leaders today considered plans for an expanding labor rule in international affairs.

These include the possibility that several union leaders may be appointed to U. S. diplomatic posts abroad.

Because Russia belongs to World Federation of Trade Unions, the AFL never joined that organization as did the CIO. But now that the CIO, as well as the British Trades Union Congress and the Dutch labor movement, have pulled out of the WFTU, AFL interest has perked up.

Members of the AFL's executive council, in their annual midwinter meeting here, reportedly look with favor on the idea of sharing with the CIO membership in a new international labor group without Russia or the Soviet-dominated governments.

But the AFL probably will wait awhile before making any overtures in that direction. The federation leaders want to talk with a group of British labor leaders due to come to this country in mid-March.

AFL leaders here say privately they have gotten along with the CIO and Anti-Soviet European labor groups sitting together on the labor advisory committee of the European recovery program.

State leaders have suggested to the State Department that union men from this country could serve well as U. S. diplomats because of the labor charter of so many foreign governments.

Political help the unions gave President Truman in the November elections has greased the way, with the idea progressing to the point that the labor organizations have been asked to suggest names for possible diplomatic appointments.

The senate was in recess until noon Thursday. The house, in session, hoped to rush through an affirmative vote on a bill already passed by the senate to let industries parcel out scarce products among themselves for seven more months.

President Li May Confer With Reds

Nanking, Feb. 2.—(P)—Acting President Li Tsung-Jen may fly to Communist territory to try for peace.

Sources close to Li said today he had the flight under consideration, but that it would be made only if all other peace efforts collapsed.

Li is high on the Communist list of war criminals. Many doubt that he could make more than a local peace involving Nanking, Shanghai and Hankow and the rest of the lower Yangtze valley.

"The time has passed," said one Chinese leader, "when Li or any other than Chiang Kai-Shek can make a national agreement. There is doubt that Chiang could make a pact binding on all areas of China."

Delivery of the lower Yangtze from Hankow to the sea in exchange for concessions would resemble the transaction by which Gen. Fu Tso-Yi surrendered peiping.

The absence of strong military forces from the Nanking area strengthened the belief Li is making progress toward a Yangtze peace pact. There has been official silence on the subject, however.

The military front was quiet. A few rifle shots were heard beyond Pukow, across the river from Nanking. But there was no indication fighting actually had been resumed. All official sources here denied a report that hostilities had broken out already at Tsingtao, the port occupied by U. S. Marines.

Meanwhile the whereabouts of Premier Sun Fo puzzled many. At the house where he was staying in Shanghai servants said they knew nothing of his whereabouts. Yesterday Nanking sources said Li had persuaded Sun to return to Nanking but he has not been seen here.

O'Malley Trial Is Nearing Conclusion

Philadelphia, Feb. 2.—(P)—A jury today will be asked to decide whether Magistrate John J. O'Malley illegally postponed hearings and revised decisions out of court.

As the commonwealth rested its case yesterday, Laurence H. Eldredge, special deputy attorney general, demanded conviction of O'Malley as a faithless public servant who took his oath of office with his fingers crossed.

Eldredge in a two-hour speech to the jury declared that both evidence and testimony introduced since the trial began Jan. 24 afforded "overwhelming documentary proof" that O'Malley was guilty on all 20 counts.

Fifty-two of the counts accuse O'Malley of postponing hearings illegally and 154 charge that he revised his decisions out of court.

Before Judge W. Russell Carr gives the case to the jury, the magistrate's lawyer, Lemuel B. Schofield, will make his summation.

A previous trial against O'Malley last November ended when the jury failed to agree.

Western Area To Learn Milk Decision

Pittsburgh, Feb. 2.—(P)—Residents of the western Pennsylvania area expect to learn about March 1 if they will be able to purchase milk two cents a quart cheaper.

The Greater Pittsburgh Milk Dealers Association yesterday reiterated its demands for such a cut at a state milk control commission hearing.

The board called the hearing on its own motion last month, recessing after two days of testimony. Commission members indicated they would rule about March 1. The ruling would affect most consumers in western Pennsylvania, except in Erie.

The milk dealers suggested the price be cut from 22 cents to 20 cents a quart for a five-month period, after which it would automatically go back to 22 cents.

Dairymen and representatives of milk products opposed the action, contending the cost of producing milk was too high to justify a price reduction.

REFUND CHECKS ARE ALREADY GOING OUT

Pittsburgh, Feb. 2.—(P)—Stanley Granger, collector of Internal Revenue for the Pittsburgh district, says more than 50,000 refund checks have been sent to persons who already have paid their income taxes.

Thus far the office has paid out $364,095 more than at the same time last year. During 1948 47,494 returns were made. They totaled $2,610,372.

MISSING WITH TOTS

Pittsburgh, Feb. 2.—(P)—Mrs. Catherine Mildrich, 31, and her four young children were reported today as missing by her husband, George. He said his wife told him yesterday after a quarrel: "You better kiss the children goodbye. You may not see them any more."

Norway Decides to Seek Security Through Ties of Western Powers

JOE MUST COME TO CAPITAL TO SEE HARRY

London, Feb. 2.—(P)—Prime Minister Stalin offered today to meet with President Truman east of the iron curtain, pleading that his health does not allow him to journey farther. The White House, informed of the offer, stood pat on its insistence that Mr. Truman is willing to see Stalin only in Washington.

N.L.R.B. Head Is Heard By Committee

Washington, Feb. 2.—(P)—The chairman of the National Labor Relations Board said today that the Truman administration's labor bill would override state bans against the closed shop.

NLRB Chairman Paul M. Herzog testified before the senate labor committee, which is considering the bill under a new "hurry up" order calling for night shifts.

Secretary of Labor Tobin was to follow Herzog to the stand.

Herzog took the state after an angry wrangle among committee members over the decision to hold night sessions. The quarrel ended with a 5-4 party-line vote to meet tonight.

Herzog said in his prepared statement that the new measure would specifically restore federal precedence over state laws in the field of union security arrangements—including the closed shop, in which only union members are hired. This would apply only in interstate commerce; states could still forbid closed shops in work affecting only commerce within a state.

A number of states have banned such arrangements, and the supreme court recently upheld those laws. The Taft-Hartley law, which the Truman bill would reverse, gives precedence to the states in such matters.

The board official argued for the continuation of a five-man NLRB in place of the three-man agency which existed during the 12 years of the Wagner act.

Tobin was called back for cross examination on his testimony earlier this week urging passage of a bill which would (1) repeal the Taft-Hartley law and (2) restore the old Wagner Act with the "improvements" President Truman wants.

'Darn! Guess I'll Go Back to Sleep!'

Too bad, folks. Better get set for six more weeks of winter. Mr. Groundhog came out of his burrow to take a look at the Acme Fotocast weather map—and saw his shadow right across it. So back into his hole he popped—to stay there until spring really comes.

Six Weeks Of Traditional Winter Brer' Forecast In 'Chuck Rules Quarryville

Quarryville, Feb. 2.—(P)—The groundhog crept out of his hole today and spied his shadow. That means—to believers in this traditional "forecast"—there will be six more weeks of wintry weather.

Squad 13 of the Slumbering Lodge of Groundhogs witnessed the shadow-viewing at 9:10.38 a. m., and went through the annual wigwag gyrations to relay the news to groundhog headquarters at Quarryville.

The expedition reported from Stony Hill. Treating cautiously a path across ice-crusted snow a foot deep, hibernating Governor Charles F. Hess and other members of the lodge had assembled in their traditional tall silk hats and nightshirts to hail their hero.

According to the old legend in these parts, if the groundhog crawling from his hole on Candlemas Day sees his shadow, winter has six more weeks to run. If not, snow away your red flannel underwear!

A little after the fustigged down, the lodge bestowed an honorary membership on President Truman. The president became the first man ever elected to the lodge in its 42-year history with "a degree of prophesy."

Brer' groundhog looked hale and hearty but seemed slightly snappish because fresh doubts have been cast on his acumen by scientists and rival weather makers.

In perfect groundhogese, he warned his court to discount pro-(Turn to Page Five)

President Has No Invitation From Stalin For a Meeting

Washington, Feb. 2.—(P)—The White House said today that President Truman has received no invitation from Prime Minister Stalin for a meeting to discuss United States-Russian differences.

The president's position against leaving the United States for such a discussion is unchanged, it was added.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross, asked about a published report that the Soviet leader had suggested a meeting in Russia, said that the president had no such communication from Stalin on this subject.

He added that what Ross told newspapermen Monday "still stands."

At that time, Ross said that Mr. Truman had given his latest word on the subject at a recent news conference. The president reiterated then that he would be happy to receive Stalin in Washington, but that his position against leaving this country for such a conference was unchanged.

Ross' conference with reporters today began with a question about a report by the International News Service, to the effect that Stalin would be happy to meet President Truman in Russia, Poland or Czechoslovakia.

"Mr. Nixon gave me that report," Ross asserted, referring to Robert G. Nixon, INS White House correspondent.

"Has the president received any invitation from Mr. Stalin to meet him anywhere?" a newsman asked.

"Officially no," Ross replied.

"Would the president go to Poland or Czechoslovakia or Russia to meet with Stalin?" a reporter pressed.

"No comment," Ross replied. "Period. That ends the subject. As far as I'm concerned, I'm not answering any questions on that subject."

In response to another question, Ross said Mr. Truman will hold his weekly news conference at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

GIRL IS KILLED IN COASTING ACCIDENT

Pittsburgh, Feb. 2.—(P)—A 13-year-old girl was killed and 10 children were injured in sledding accidents yesterday.

Nancy Letzkus of Brentwood died in South Side Hospital. Her sled had crashed into a sewer drain on Lawnwood street.

Most seriously injured of the other 10 was Arthur Schippmann, 11, who suffered chest hurts when his sled ran into a parked car near his Morrison avenue home. He was taken to St. John's Hospital.

Mary Jane Chesney, 6, who suffered a head concussion when her sled hit a pole on Parkwood Road, was detained at South Side Hospital.

"Busted Merchant" of 1921 Is Confident of the Future

Washington, Feb. 2.—(P)—President Truman, the "busted merchant" of 1921, believes the United States can head off economic disaster.

And, he says, it must not only do that, but must follow through with the job of "world planning."

"I think that before any disaster with which we may be faced comes about," said Mr. Truman, "we will be in a position to meet it."

He voiced his thoughts at a dinner of the National Planning Association last night in an extemporaneous talk that was alternately humorous and deadly serious.

Efforts to make government serve the people more efficiently, Mr. Truman said, go hand in hand with economic planning to avert the disaster of depression.

He recalled he was a partner in a haberdashery store in Kansas City in 1921 when a depression came along.

The "busted merchant," he said, got into politics and ran for county judge against "a very able and distinguished banker—and won the election."

He was working in a bank in 1907 in Kansas City, he said at another point, when "we had a bankers panic, which was one of the funniest ones" ever, since "no body understood the cause—the why or the wherefore of it."

The president spoke of the dark days from 1929 through 1932, of earlier depressions, and said planners, in and out of government, are working to prevent a recurrence of disaster.

But when we talk about planning the things we want to do economically, we are charged with being Communists and fellow travelers," he said. He remarked there is a distinction between a "planned economy" and a "controlled economy."

POSITION IS OUTLINED IN NOTE ON PACT

United States and Other Atlantic Powers Expected to Give Speedy Support to Stand

NEXT MOVE IS AWAITED

Oslo, Norway, Feb. 2.—(P)—Norway has politely but firmly informed Russia it is necessary for her to seek "increased security" through defensive cooperation such as ties with the western powers.

The Norwegian reply to a Soviet note asking about Norway's position on the Atlantic security pact reassured Russia, however, that Norway would not grant bases on her soil to foreign powers unless she is attacked or threatened with aggression.

The U. S. State Department said the United States hopes Norway soon will be brought into discussion of the Atlantic pact, which would link the defenses of the U. S., Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

Norway said she will study the possibilities for joining a regional defense alliance with the Atlantic powers. The reply pointed to Norway's interdependence with the west and the fact that the country borders on the Atlantic Ocean.

The Norwegian reply, delivered by Foreign Minister Halvard Lange to the Russian ambassador in Oslo, said Norway had hoped the United Nations would provide the strength necessary to maintain peace and security for the world, but this had not materialized.

Concern for her security, the reply said, had convinced Norway of the necessity to seek increased safety through regional defensive cooperation.

Attempts to create a defensive alliance of the three Scandinavian nations, Norway, Sweden and Denmark, failed, the note pointed out.

Washington, Feb. 2.—(P)—The United States and other Atlantic powers were expected today to give Norway speedy support in her resistance to Russian pressure against joining the proposed North Atlantic Alliance.

Diplomats predicted that the seven nations already negotiating the pact here would lose no time in making Norway one of their group. This presumably would have the effect of fixing Norway's position firmly and might thereby strengthen her hand in the Oslo government in any further exchanges with Moscow.

The fact that Norway and several other countries will soon be invited to discuss the military alliance project was officially disclosed yesterday by the State Department.

The State Department has not yet made public a list of the nations which it and other negotiating powers hope may be included in the expanded pact. They are reported to include Italy, Portugal, Ireland, Iceland and probably Denmark, in addition to Norway.

Already in the negotiations are the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Of all these 13 nations Norway is the only one which has a common border with Russia. That frozen boundary, up at the top of the European continent, is one of the world's diplomatic hot spots today.

It is estimated that over 300 were served at the club dinner that preceded the meeting and program. The meal was prepared by the Lewis caterers and served by the efficient house committee.

Past exalted rulers filled the chairs for the meeting in the lodge room after the dinner with H. J. Christensen acting as exalted ruler. Other officers were filled by the following past exalted rulers: Leading knight, A. A. Albaugh; loyal knight, E. C. Lynch; lecturing knight, H. J. Onions; chaplain, Dr. D. A. Smith; esquire, A. C. Kirberger, Jr.; treasurer, H. J. Harvey; secretary, R. L. Ruhlman; inside guard, W. V. Geer; tiller, Harold C. Putnam. The impressive opening ritualistic work was enhanced by the past rulers of the Elks, who sang several numbers. A. A. Albaugh in his usual capable manner delivered the eleven o'clock toast.

Following the meeting a most entertaining floor show was presented with George C. Sarvas as master of ceremonies, and the Jordan orchestra furnishing the music.

Announcement was made during the evening of the forthcoming visit of Grand Exalted Ruler George I. Hall, of Lynnbrook Lodge, N. Y., No. 1515, who will be entertained by Warren Lodge on the evening of March 17. A feature of the event will be a banquet for 600 to be served at the State Armory. A committee has been named to arrange the event which will mark another red letter day in the history of Warren Lodge.

Anniversary Observed By Blatt Bros.

The twenty-ninth anniversary of their start in show business is being observed by the three Blatt brothers, in all the theatres in the circuit, during the week which includes February 2. Beginning with the little theatre in the town of East Brady, Clarion county, the organization now has twenty-three theatres, one of which is an open air theatre, the Altoona Drive-In, at Altoona. In early 1920, an elderly gentleman named T. B. Humes, proprietor of his properties in the little town of East Brady and moved to Oregon, where he spent the remaining years of his life. Among the properties owned by him in East Brady was the old-time "Perry House," known at that time as the "Star" theatre. This was sold by Mr. Humes to the Blatt family, who lived across the Allegheny River in nearby Bradysburg, and that was the beginning of the theatre activity for the organization that later became known as Blatt Bros. Theatres. On February 2, 1920, the Star theatre opened for the first time under the ownership of the Blatt family, and the first picture presented was one starring Douglas Fairbanks, the leaping, swash-buckling star of those days. At that time, Woodrow Wilson was President of the United States, the war to and all wars was fifteen months past, and the nation was just entering upon the bizarre period now known in history as the "Roaring Twenties." The country was about to embark upon a new era, and the prohibition era, and vaudeville comedians raved. "We took this land from the Indians, and after July first we're gonna give it back." Flag-pole sitters, marathon runners, and Al Capone, were including themselves upon the attention of the nation, and Governor Smith was saying things like, "Personally, I can run on a laundry ticket and beat these politicians." Linderberg's history-making flight did not come until 1927, about the time that "Silent al" Coolidge, "Did not choose to run." Silent pictures had grown up by 1920. The great movie palaces, most of which are the dominating theatres today, came into being during the twenties. The circuit now operates theatres in Somerset, Corry, Clarion, Patton, Mercer, New Bethlehem, Youngwood, Roaring Spring, Girard, Albion, Port Allegany, Youngsville, Smethport, Berlin, East Brady, Martinsburg and Nanticoke, all in western Pennsylvania, the May, in Mayville, N. Y., and the Altoona Drive-In. The operating heads of Blatt Bros. Theatres are the three brothers, William J. of Pittsburgh, John A. of Corry, and Charles R. Blatt, of Somerset. All three are still active after twenty-nine years, and hope to celebrate many more anniversaries in show business.

TODAY is pay day for all the folks who have classified ads.

SETTLEMENT NEAR

Union plumbers at Meadville, who have been on strike for 19 weeks, will vote Thursday night on a proposal to accept $2.07 1/2 cents an hour, which is an advance of 32 1/2 cents. The agreement has been reached by a union committee and employers, but the proposed new rate needs the approval of the membership.

BURGLARY SOLVED

Two owners of the Kendall service station at Union City reported loss of $500 through a burglary Saturday night. A rear window had been broken, but the money was taken by operation of the combination. Suspicion fell upon a young man employed at the station and upon his return to town Monday morning he admitted his guilt to the chief of police. The station owners not only refused to prefer charges against the young man, but are keeping him in their employ.

COLD SWIM

A young Titusville man picked the coldest night of the year shortly after midnight Saturday to swim Oil Creek in that city. At the time he was being pursued by city police as the result of a disturbance in a restaurant there. Jumping into the river he was burdened by an overcoat and gaiters but still managed to negotiate the creek although going down twice in the attempt. Nabbed on the opposite bank he was taken to jail and later paid a $10 fine for drunken and disorderly conduct.

OIL STOCKS UP

Stocks of domestic and foreign crude petroleum at the close of the week ended Jan. 22 totaled 254,853,000 barrels, according to data reported to the Bureau of Mines, United States Department of Interior. Compared with the total of 252,537,000 barrels for the preceding week, this represents an increase of 1,816,000 barrels, comprising an increase of 1,845,000 barrels in stocks of domestic crude and a decrease of 29,000 barrels in stocks of foreign crude. Current reports of the industry for the week ending January 22 indicate a decrease in crude-oil production and a decrease in crude runs. According to the API, the daily average output was 5,419,000 barrels, or 9,000 barrels below the total of the preceding week. Daily average crude runs to stills of 5,556,000 barrels were 165,000 below the level of the preceding week and 110,000 barrels above the week ended Jan. 24, 1948.

ON WAY TO HOLLYWOOD

Blatt Brothers, operators of the State Theatre, at Youngsville announced today that John A. Blatt is on his way to Hollywood. Mr. Blatt is not only one of the partners in this firm, but is also in charge of promotion and production for the Blatt Brothers. Many of the leading film companies are changing their production methods and schedules to meet changing conditions. The firm feels that with John A. Blatt on the scene to personally witness what effect these changes may have in the local company's film program, it will be possible to take advantage of these changes so that the communities which it serves will receive even better and more up-to-date shows than in the past. This is in line with the Blatt Brothers' policy of offering only the best films to its customers, and it is believed that John A. Blatt's trip to Hollywood will be advantageous to all concerned.

USES SHOTGUN

Titusville Herald: Angered by a group of youths who, he said, had bothered him for the past three weeks, Clarence Cornell, 31, of the Spring Creek road, took his shotgun last night and shot off part of the radiator of the boys' car. He came into the local police station to report the incident to Capt. Roy V. Loomis, who advised him to notify the State Police at Warren, which he did. He told Capt. Loomis that the boys, who live near Vrooman, had been making a nuisance of themselves by driving in and out of his driveway, honking their horn, yelling and making a racket late at night. Their car was without a muffler, which added to the din. Last night his patience became exhausted, Cornell said. With his trusty shotgun he aimed at the bottom of the car radiator and tore a chunk off. Then with a neighbor, Wayne Gilson, 41, of Seikins road, he came to Titusville. When he left, he said, the boys were trying to repair their radiator. Their ages ranged from 16 to 18, he said.

CLOSED SHOP ARGUMENT

In writing a new labor law this year congress faces the angry problem of the closed shop, James Marlow, Associated Press feature writer in Washington points out.

A closed shop is where boss and union agree that everyone must belong to the union or lose his job and only union members can be hired.

Should a closed shop be banned by law? There's divided thinking on this. The following story gives both sides of the argument.

Say those who want a law against a closed shop—

1. A man should be free to join, or not join, a union. He should not have to lose his job if he doesn't want to join.
2. A closed shop forces a boss to fire good men, who need their jobs, just because they won't join. And it prevents him from hiring other good and needy men unless they have a union card.
3. Closed shops are monopolies. Under the law, companies can't form monopolies. So why should unions be allowed to have them?
4. In a closed shop a worker has no protection against some unfair action against him by his enemies within the union.

(But a worker who is not a union member has no protection against unfairness by his boss.)

5. Some union men are against a closed shop because, they say, it's such a 100 per cent all-union affair, the union gets lazy and is not as progressive as a union which has to fight to keep its members happy.

Say those who want no law at all against a closed shop—

1. It's unfair for a worker not to join a union if he receives the benefits won by the unions. They put up the fight and pay their dues while, doing nothing, he gets all benefits for free.
2. A closed shop gives a union greater security against any attempt by the boss to wreck the union.
3. In a closed shop there's less trouble, the kind which might arise between union and non-union men.
4. A closed shop prevents discrimination. That is, the boss can't favor a non-union man over a union man.
5. And some union men argue that a closed shop protects a craft—that is a group of workers doing highly skilled work—from the poor work of a non-union unskilled man who might be hired.

In a closed craft-union shop unskilled men would have to work as apprentices before they could move up to skilled jobs.)

Until the Taft-Hartley law was passed in 1947, there was no federal law against a closed shop. But Taft-Hartley banned it absolutely.

And a number of states passed their own laws banning a closed shop.

Recently the U. S. Supreme court gave a decision saying a state has the right to ban closed shops.

So, between the Taft-Hartley law and the state laws, it seemed that a closed shop was a dead duck.

But President Truman and his advisors have asked congress to abolish the Taft-Hartley act and pass a new labor law.

And they've asked congress, in that new law, to do this:

1. First, to wipe out any federal ban on closed shops.
2. Second, to say this federal law stands above state anti-closed shop laws.

(A closed shop is different from a union shop. In a union shop non-union workers can be hired although they must then join the union.

PATTERN SALES

Of course you notice the patterns printed in your favorite newspaper. Last year, the Oil City Derrick points out, was a great one for their use. Here is a list of sales for last year:

Two hundred million pattern sales in 1948; 80 million pre-war; 233% gain in 1948 over pre-war.

Sixty million dollars spent for pattern sales in 1948; 14 million pre-war; 328% gain in 1948 over pre-war.

Twenty-eight million women and teen-age girls in 1948 did home sewing; 10 million pre-war; 180% gain in 1948 over pre-war.

Twenty-eight million sewing machines in American homes in 1948; 18 million pre-war; 55% gain in 1948 over pre-war.

Ten million dollars spent by women and teen-age girls learning how to sew in 1948; 2 million dollars pre-war; 400% gain in 1948 over pre-war.

Every indication points to 1949 being an even greater home sewing year than 1948, with the demand for patterns hitting new all-time highs.

Here And There

This And That: A Penelac crew, setting a new pole along the south side of Pennsylvania avenue opposite the Beckley alley on Monday had plenty of "sidewalk superintendents." The operation kept a large crowd of spectators entertained and interested most of the afternoon. . . . Bradford Saints and Sinners officials have received word that their efforts to bring the Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey circus to Bradford this summer have been successful. Due to their playing a tour through New England at the time of the national convention of the Saints and Sinners in Bradford, the circus could not come at that time, but definitely will show there the second week in July. This showing was arranged last week in New York where Bradford members met with Ringling officials and the final decision was telephoned to James Schomburg, national secretary of the Saints and Sinners, by Waldo Tupper, general agent of the show. . . . And it is a pretty safe prediction to say that when the mammoth circus shows in Bradford Warren will be well represented. . . . Salamanca has been paying tribute to Ray Evans, the lyricist, in conjunction with the showing of the picture for which he wrote the words to the hit, "Buttons and Bows." At a Kiwanis-Rotary luncheon Mr. Evans was introduced as a "native Salamanca man who has gone out and made good in the musical world. . . . J. Kennedy Spafford, of Erie, always a welcome visitor to the Times - Mirror editorial rooms, dropped in Tuesday afternoon in connection with his promotion of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Council for Industrial and Area Development. . . . Gurney Ball, state factory inspector, and Fire Chief Charles Albaugh drop in and chat about their activities in and around Warren. . . . A throng of nearly 275 persons heard a fine program which was presented by the Scottish Rite Choir in the Presbyterian church at Cory the other afternoon. . . . In recognition of outstanding merit and exceptional service to youth, Clarence E. Cornes, of Kane, active in the Scouting movement for the past 26 years, was awarded the Silver Beaver at the annual banquet of the Elk Lick Council, Boy Scouts of America, held in Emporium Saturday. . . . It may cost $6,000,000 instead of the originally estimated $1,000,000 to repair the White House, Commissioner W. E. Reynolds of the public building administration says, explaining that engineers found more things wrong than expected. . . . Fifty years ago, we note in The Mirror, of February 2, 1899, "The ice at Clemens pond was excellent for curling yesterday and the sport was indulged in by several Warren experts. There is a possibility that a challenge may be issued to Buffalo or some Canadian city."

Next time you bake brownies, cut them in diamond shapes for variation and sprinkle the tops with confectioners' sugar or frost them.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

Former and present students of Allegheny College, will read with much amusement the following Associated Press dispatch: "A 'great hairy beast' that left strange tracks in the snow on the Allegheny campus has been found to be a man, who walked around the snow in his bare feet, to relieve chilblains. The sufferer wore a fur coat with the collar turned up, leading co-eds to believe that an ape or a bear was at large. . . . The Dragons were defeated by Erie's East High team, 23-32. (This may be some consolation to the 1949 team for those recent defeats). . . . The winner of the Frigiditas prize has finally been found. ### GOOD FIRE RECORD

Titusville Herald: When the clock struck 12 Monday night a fire record for the past several years had been established—not a single alarm for the entire month of January 1948. During the same period of last year, firemen were called out no fewer than nine times for various alarms, including grease, car, barn fires and thawing out water pipes. Lee White, veteran driver, said it was the longest "no-alarm" period that he could recall in a number of years. A hasty check back through the records revealed that February 1945, produced no "business" for the firemen. Not having answered any alarms doesn't necessarily mean that both trucks were idle. On Jan. 9, No. 1 truck made a trip to Graham to try out a standpipe for pressure on the reservoir at that place. And yesterday it was out again to "treat" a N. Y. C. locomotive to a 5,000-gallon drink of water. The last real alarm came on Dec. 30 when an oil fire started in an old tank at the Penn-Drake refinery.

Berlin Reds Use This 'Paper Bullet' in Cold War

Chiang Kai-shek
End of 1948: "We will fight still another eight years."
1949: Fled.
A pro-Soviet political cartoonist, drawing for the Soviet-licensed Berlin newspaper, Berliner Zeitung, sees a parallel between China's retiring president, Chiang Kai-shek, and Colonel Frank L. Howley, the United States commandant in Berlin. Chiang and Howley are pictured in an identical pose, with an airplane in the background ready to take them away. Howley is shown holding an American-sponsored newspaper.

CHAPTER 9
SUMMER had come to New England. It was as though some giant hand had turned the pages of a fabulous book, skipping several chapters. Just as David Warren had predicted, there had been no spring season. One day it was winter; the next day, miraculously, summer had come. And what a summer!

This morning, as she stood at a window in her bedroom looking out at the panorama spread before her, Betty was sure she had never seen anything quite so beautiful. It was, she decided, a technicolor picture come to life. It seemed incredible that she had ever disliked New England.

"I must have been mad," she murmured, "completely mad. It's Heaven—pure and unadulterated Heaven!"

Wasn't precisely Heaven, although the immediate surroundings were as near to perfection as Aunt Minniebelle and her City Improvement Club had been able to make them, in view of limited funds and a slight difference of opinion as to what constituted perfection.

Nor was Minniebelle's illness proven too great an obstacle. The ladies had rallied nobly to her assistance. Therefore she had been able to direct activities—first, from her sick-bed, and then from a chair placed in front of the living room window overlooking the Green.

In fact, Minniebelle's illness had been able to do more than Minniebelle well. Her untimely attack of pneumonia, her Spartan courage in carrying on in the face of death itself, had spurred her cohorts on to greater efforts. The results were highly satisfactory—even to Minniebelle.

Moreover, Carrolton, unlike most of the nearby villages, did not indulge in summer salesmanship. Except for the tourist stores along Main Street and a few women who sold hooked rugs in the poorer section, Carrolton was not catering to a transient trade.

Tourists, Carrolton argued, would come automatically—for patriotic reasons. If they wanted to buy anything, they could patronize the church rummage sales, which was only right and proper. If they mistook Mrs. Hague's old bureau for a genuine antique—well, it wasn't the Ladies' Aid's fault.

The Warren house, which Betty had come to think of as home, was one of a group of two-story white houses facing the famous "Green" where the statue of William Bradford stood guard.

Betty could see the simple stone structure which sheltered the Rock where the forefathers landed. All through the summer people would come from far and near, to stand with bowed heads before this historic shrine. And to make caustic remarks about the improbability of a hundred and two pilgrims being able to land on such a small rock.

Carrolton, she felt, had every reason to be proud of the Rock. She was proud of it too. Although she had seen very little of the town and the surrounding countryside, she was sure she loved every inch of it. Certainly the view from her window was perfect. Even the William Bradford statue on the Green did not disturb her too much, though she did feel that Mr. Bradford looked a little silly standing knee-deep in a flower bed.

However, she could understand the reason for the flower bed, just as she could come to understand so many things that had puzzled her at first. Mr. Bradford did look sort

"MOVES like a whirlwind, doesn't she?" her father would comment to Betty. "Looks like little Gertie's getting to be about the most popular girl in town. Funny—she never says where she's going." The anxious look on his face was cancelled by a note of pride in his voice.

During his wife's illness David had been the perfect, solicitous husband. He was always available when needed, but never underfoot. He called in Mrs. Bassett to attend to the cooking and housework, leaving Betty free to attend to the patient.

There had been no change in doctors. From the first, young Doctor Newton was obviously quite capable of handling the situation. He had proved himself as far as the Warrens were concerned. And now that he had pulled Minniebelle through a serious spell of pneumonia, David Warren was his staunch ally.

And Betty had been useful. Doctor Newton, although he was still strangely aloof and behaved almost as if he expected she might bite him, had come to rely on her. In fact, he had condescended to say so last week, when he finally dismissed the case; he had gone so far as to say:

"You've been a swell nurse, Betty. A real trouper. You're looking kind of peaked, too. Now that your aunt is well and summer is here, you should be getting out, going places, and having a little fun."

Then he had spoiled everything by adding: "Remembering one of these days and I'll take you out to Alden, if I'm not too busy. Finest beach in the country there. Water's still too cold to do much swimming. But I could park you on the sand while I read a book or something. It would give you a chance to soak in some sunshine and get some color into your face. You could use a little color. You're much too pale."

"Remind him!" stormed Betty, and turned away from the window, losing interest in the scene before her. "You'd think he was doing me a big favor. I never heard of anything so presumptuous!"

She went over to the dressing table and sat down, stared at her reflection in the mirror. "So I'm too pale, am I? And I can sun myself on the beach—like a dope or something—while he reads a book. Well!"

It annoyed her all the more to realize that the reflection in the mirror was not at all reassuring. She was too pale, but what wouldn't be after weeks indoors taking care of a sick woman?

Reluctantly, she had to admit that Doctor George Newton was right—to a certain extent. In a manner of speaking, she was falling apart. Yes, she could use a little sunshine; she could use a little fun.

Mrs. Bassett called up the stairwell to say that Doctor Newton was on the phone and wanted to speak to her. He had remembered. Upon hearing her carefully casual "Hello," he said:

"I'm declaring a half-holiday and taking a run out to Alden this afternoon. Want to come along?" Without waiting for an answer, he added, "So get out your sun suit. I'll pick you up around one o'clock."

Suddenly it seemed very important to Betty that she say "Yes." In a few minutes he'd get mad and withdraw the invitation.

"Okay, then. I'll be seeing you at one o'clock sharp. Be sure you're ready. Doctor's orders, you know," he added in a bantering tone.

His lapse into facetiousness alarmed Betty. "Of course I'll be ready," she said, uncomfortably aware that a note of eagerness had crept into her voice.

"Good girl—Betty. Good-bye now," he said, and hung up the receiver before she could say another word.

She spent the rest of the morning washing and drying her hair and going through her clothes, as if trying to decide what to wear. It was, more or less, a perfunctory gesture. She knew very well what she would wear.

ARRIVING promptly at one o'clock, he sounded the car horn and, even as Betty ran down the front steps, he was conscious of his eyes upon her. His lips parted and something that sounded suspiciously like a wolf-call emerged.

There was no lack of color in Betty's face now, although she told herself firmly, "It couldn't be a wolf-call. It just couldn't. He would never, never do anything so undignified—or human."

His lapse was brief. Just as Betty was beginning to suspect that George Newton, the doctor, and George Newton, the man, were two separate personalities, his face went grim. He started the car with a jerk that almost threw Betty against the windshield. She could draw only one conclusion: he resented her presence, and regretted having asked her to come along.

He maneuvered the car into the roadway, then turned north. Alden Beach was in the other direction, but he offered no explanation and Betty resolved to ask no questions. She would be just as hateful as he was, she decided. Presently he said:

"Hang it all—I should have phoned you and called the whole thing off. I should have my head examined. I might have known—"

Then why didn't you call it off? Betty exploded, her voice shaking with indignation and hurt pride. "If you think you're doing me a favor—well, you're very much mistaken. If I never see your precious Alden Beach, I can bear it. I'd thank you to stop right here. I—I'll get out and walk back."

Witness Is Excused In Treason Trial

Washington, Feb. 2—(P)—A key government witness was excused temporarily from testifying in the "Axis Sally" treason trial today when he refused to take an oath on the Bible.

The witness, George Heinrich Schnell, a German actor, said he did not believe in "wards and punishment" after death.

Prosecutors indicated they may make another effort later to put Schnell on the stand.

Schnell was called shortly after the start of today's court session. He was told to put his hand on a Bible to take the oath as a witness.

He shook his head. The clerk then read an alternative oath for witnesses who do not want to "swear" to tell the truth, but are willing to "affirm."

James J. Laughlin, attorney for Mildred E. Gillars, 48, on trial for making the "Axis Sally" broadcast for the Nazis during the war, jumped to his feet to protest.

Laughlin said that a witness who does not believe in rewards and punishments after death is disqualified to testify.

Storms In Wide Area Deal Huge Losses In Livestock valley but temperatures moderated.

Some communities in the western blizzard area were isolated for days—some for weeks. Roads choked with huge snow drifts halted all travel over hundreds of miles in the Dakotas, Nebraska, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Nevada, Utah and Idaho.

The federal government joined with the western blizzard states in the relief and rescue work. Planes and snow-moving equipment moved in. Bulldozers and snow paws opened the snow-blocked highways and secondary roads. Planes carrying tons of hay flew over the isolated regions, dropping their cargo to the starving livestock. Planes also took food and medical supplies to snowbound communities and Indian reservations. That job still is underway.

Most stockmen believe the accurate livestock loss will not be determined until the spring thaws.

He ducked back into his warm burrow to sleep off the effects of exposure to 20-degree cold.

Dr. Lorenzo was so sure he was right he announced he was ducking down to Florida until the cold war was over.

The honorary membership was accepted for Mr. Truman by Guy L. Moser, of Reading, Pa., former member of congress.

Toledo, Ohio—The first Universal Jeeps with the new Toledo-made bodies are now rolling off the assembly line at Willys-Overland Motors, it was announced by James D. Mooney, president and board chairman.

For the first time, stampings for the Jeep bodies are being made in Willys-Overland's postwar stamping division, where major stampings are also made for the Jeepster and Jeep trucks.

Tools, dies, jigs and fixtures for the new body-building operation were recently moved to Toledo from Connersville, Indiana where the American Central Division, Avco Manufacturing Corp., formerly built the Jeep bodies for Willys-Overland.

The move was made as a further step in the integration of the company's manufacturing operations, Mooney explained.

Dragons Trim Rockets, Franklin Bumps Meadville In Sec. 2 Race

Warren High Dragons chalked up their third triumph in five league starts and their 15th victory in 19 games so far this season by dampening the fuses of the Titusville Rockets, 50 to 35, on the Titusville court last night.

In a second Section Two tilt last night, the Meadville Bulldogs threw a scare into the red-hot Franklin five, before bowing to the league-leaders by a 36-30 count. The win was the fifth in a row for the Bulldogs.

The Blue and White cagers are idle Friday night so far as league action is concerned, but the locals will travel to Bradford for a non-league return match with the Owls. First meeting between the clubs on Beatty court resulted in a 37-34 triumph for the Massamans.

Section Two action slated for Friday evening sends Titusville to Franklin and Meadville to Oil City. Ted Shattuck copped high scoring honors in last night's battle with 18 points, representing eight field goals and two free throws. Bob Brumagim was second high with 12 while Gall Nelson was credited with 10. Ken Davidson was top man for Titusville with 11 units.

Dick Christensen, one of the regular Dragon starters, was unable to make the trip to Titusville last night because of illness. As a result Coach Joe Masca reshuffled his lineup, putting George Enoch and Brumagim in the forward slots; Shattuck on the pivot; and Gall Nelson and Randy White in the backcourt. Chuck Reese broke into the lineup in the second quarter, subbing for White, while Bill Tannler, John Hanna and Harry Danielson were on the bench for the closing minutes of play. Titusville and subbs springing, with Rusty Gustafson and Coleman the only reserves seeing action.

Dragonettes Win Thriller, 30 to 29

Rebounding from the setback handed them on Beatty court, the Warren High Dragonettes edged the Titusville Seconds, 30-29, in a thrilling preliminary on the Titusville hardwood last night. The Titusville five held a 23-15 lead over the Warren team early in the fourth quarter but the Dragonettes came back to make the score 29-25 with one minute remaining. Bob Foley, Warren guard, tallied with two quick baskets to even it up, 29-29. Then Bittenbender of Titusville, fouled Francis Griffin, who made the free throw good to win the game, 30-29.

Chicago Hornets Have New Owner

Chicago, Feb. 2.—(P)—James C. Thompson, 52-year-old owner of the Chicago opera building, has entered the pro football picture as new owner of the Chicago Hornets with his hand in his pocket.

Terming himself as the "well heeled" major stockholder of the Hornets—formerly the Rockets—Thompson has backed the All America Conference club with $300,000.

"And there's more if needed," he said. "The $300,000 for operation in 1949 is a minimum. Our objective is to field a team completely acceptable and worthy for Chicago football fans. Interests of major league football will be best served through continuance of a two league system."

The Rockets of the past three years have dropped nearly $1,000,000 in trying for city patronage against the Bears and Cardinals of the National League.

Thompson also is a director of the Chicago Olympic Committee, former sponsor of horse shows and an avid hockey fan.

Los Angeles, Feb. 2.—(P)—The thoroughbred racehorse empire that Louis B. Mayer spent 10 years and millions of dollars to develop is no more.

All that remains is a herd of about 50 yearlings to be auctioned later this year.

Sale of the moviemaker's 504-acre breeding farm at Ferris, Calif., for a price estimated at more than $1,000,000 yesterday was the last major step in the breakup of the Mayer Racing realm, started in 1938.

Buyers of the Ferris farm were Ellsworth M. Statler, son of the founder of the Statler Hotel system, and Mrs. Meredith Howard Harless, former Ziegfeld Follies girl and wife of former Rep. Richard P. Harless of Phoenix, Ariz., and Washington, D. C.

S-P-O-R-T-O-R-I-A-L-S

(By Joe Gardner)

What has happened to Warren's War Memorial Field? Has it "died abominably" or must it take another World War to revive enough interest on the part of the parent sponsoring organizations, namely the Sports Boosters and the War Memorial Board, before another step towards the completion of this worthy project can be taken. For the sake of those who may have forgotten, here is a condensed history of the conception and partial demise of a worth while community project. Toward the close of the last war a small group of local men banded together for the purpose of creating an organization to further interest in all types of sport in Warren and vicinity. This group grew from eleven members to nearly five hundred in the space of a few months and called themselves the Sports Boosters. The idea of the War Memorial Field was conceived, and when this idea began to take definite form, the Boosters turned over their stewardship to a smaller group made up mostly of its own members and known as the War Memorial Board. Shoulder to shoulder both groups started a campaign for funds that ultimately brought roughly $84,000 into their War Chest, half of this amount came from the so called Big Boys and the rest from the man in the street. Fourteen acres of land unfit for a goat pasture were turned into an eye pleasing park, a fence and memorial gate were erected and the fund practically exhausted. Up to this point there can be no real criticism. However, nothing further of a constructive nature has been planned, a deep silence and certain amount of gloom prevail. The few remaining Sports Boosters are satisfied with after dinner speaking and the sponsorship of an annual banquet. As far as the War Memorial Board is concerned, they stand accused of the more serious crime of contributing to the delinquency of the War Memorial Field in not pushing another campaign for more funds last fall. It is understood that erection of a grand stand, a lighting system, plus finishing the field generally, will cost in the neighborhood of $125,000 and that this kind of money cannot materialize from now on. However, it is entirely conceivable that by taking the step at a time, such as a drive to get enough money for a lighting plant as the next step, will eventually blossom this half grown project into full maturity. To this end may we respectfully suggest that the War Memorial Board take into its confidence all service clubs, in Warren and vicinity, sound a call for united effort on the part of all those interested in the future welfare of this community and by so doing present a more solid front against this sleeping sickness slowly strangling a project dedicated to perpetuate the memory of men who did not know how to give up.

Men's Singles Championship Tournament To Start Sunday Night On Penn Tenpin Lanes

Sports Boosters To Elect New Officers

Warren Sports Boosters meet tonight in the YMCA to elect officers and to draft club activities for 1949.

The association will get under way at 8 o'clock.

Reports will be heard concerning the Boosters' annual banquet for High School Lettermen and senior athletes, held last week at the Marconi Outing Club, and preliminary arrangements will be made for the association's annual Homecoming celebration next fall.

Following the business session, two reels of moving pictures will be shown through the courtesy of the Atlantic Refining Company. One reel, which will last 20 minutes, will depict the college football highlights of 1947, while the second shows championship boxers in action.

Those who sign up for the tourney this week will be assigned to the 9:30 p. m. shift.

Looking ahead a bit, the Warren Bowling Association also is planning its annual City Tenpin Tournament for the latter part of April.

March and the early part of April. Five-man teams will bowl at the Arcade alleys on March 19, 20, 26 and 27th and also on Monday, March 21, if necessary.

Doubles and singles competition is slated for the Penn Bowling Center for April 1, 2 and 3 and April 8, 9 and 10.

This will be the third annual tourney sponsored by the Warren Bowling Association. Last year there were 31 five man teams entered. This year, Association officers are hoping for at least a 50 percent representation in the tourney from the approximately 150 tenpin teams competing in leagues on both public and club alleys.

Secretary Harry Wooster said it is hoped that some of the club teams will enter the tourney this year.

Plans drawn for the tournament at a meeting of the Bowling Association in the Knights of Columbus club rooms provide for three classes for five man teams, as follows: Class A—all teams with 850 or above average; Class B—teams with average between 800 and 849, inclusive; and Class C—teams with less than 800 average.

Classes for the singles and all events division will be: Class A—over 174 average; Class B—165 to
